Five Chemists Here

Dow Starts Tests At Grayling Plant

Field testing of a phosphate removal technique has started at the Grayling, Michigan, where Dow Chemical Company has been to conduct preliminary laboratory tests of the effluent from the Grayling treatment plant, improving the removal of phosphates at Grayling would have a beneficial effect on the AuSable River. The company will make a report on its preliminary investigations to the Grayling City manager about mid-April.

Phosphates are compounds containing phosphorus. Phosphates are key ingredients in the manufacture of synthetic detergents, and are also employed widely as commercial fertilizers.

When introduced to rivers, lakes and streams, phosphates stimulate growth of aquatic plants such as algae. As the aquatic plants grow in number, they make increasing demands on the available oxygen in the water in order to sustain their growth and multiply. This means less oxygen is available to participate in the natural aeration and purification of the water materials. If left unchecked, rampant growth of aquatic plants can lead to the "death" of a given body of water.

Many other factors, of course, are involved in the pollution of rivers, streams and lakes, but the removal of phosphate is one of the important steps required to win the pollution battle.

Five chemical engineers are now at work at the city plant. Two are from the State Health Department and three are connected with Dow. They set up the necessary equipment for the extensive testing of various chemicals to be used in trying the new technique.

The City of Grayling now according to State Law is chlorinating on a year around basis instead of only in the summer as the schedule called for previously. An area representative for the manufacture of such equipment has been here and the City has ordered a new chlorinator as well as having the present one checked over. With the new one installed on a standby basis, no failures are expected to occur. If one of the pieces of equipment is overloaded or fails, the other one can be brought immediately on the line.

Bacteriological studies will be carried out at the plant all this spring and summer aside from the new chlorinating process and the present program of testing.

The Dow Chemical Company has successfully completed several preliminary research tests on a method to remove phosphates from municipal and industrial wastes. The process involves two steps, both of which are compatible with existing waste treatment technology and practice.

Although in the very early stages, this research work is significant because removal of phosphates from waste water is generally regarded as one of the key problems that must be solved in order to

One-Act Drama Festival Slated

Theatre enthusiasts are invited to attend a One-Act Drama Festival scheduled for the Grayling High School gymnasium on Friday and Saturday, April 7 and 8. Four plays will be given each evening, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

The four one-acts were selected, cast, and directed by members of Troupe 84, the local chapter of the National Theatre Society. They have been aided by members of the Viking Drama Club, the group which produced this year's memorable production of "Tom Jones" and "The Miracle Worker."

The production has been constructed by Mr. Robert Boyce. Dorothy Filley is directing the make-up. Vicki Scheer is the Business Manager. Costumes for the production are being provided by the actors and actresses themselves.

The One-Act Drama Festival is the opening production of the nine-day Fine Arts Festival, from April 7-15. Tickets to the Fine Arts Festival will provide admittance to the One-Act Drama Festival.

Red Cross Drive Flounders

Out of a hoped for quota of 2,137 only $330.86 has been collected so far. Mrs. Joseph White and Mrs. John Canfield, chairman and co-chairman of the Crawford County Red Cross drive have announced. While the drive was to be concluded in March donations will still be gratefully accepted. A few workers have yet to turn in their collections.

In printing the following letter from a summer resident, we steal a phrase from Jackie Gleason "How Sweet It Is".

Dear Mrs. White:

Enclosed is our check for fifty dollars ($50.00) which my hubby and I would like to contribute to your chapter of the American Red Cross.

I only wish we could do much more for such a wonderful cause. I pray that your chapter and all others throughout the country will more than meet your quotas.

Thank you for answering my letter and I hope I can make your acquaintance some time when I'm in Grayling.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Truman Marlatt

After April 1st donations to the Red Cross Drive may be turned in to Mr. Robert Strong at the Avalanche office.

Now therefore I have signed this proclamation on this 25th day of March and caused the seal of the City of Grayling to be affixed.

Grayling Pioneer Passes Saturday

Peter William Christenson, 81, of 802 Chestnut Street, passed away at Mercy Hospital Saturday night, March 25, 1957, at eleven o'clock. He had been ill with leukemia for the past several months. Funeral services were to be held at 2 o'clock this Wednesday, March 28th, at the Michelson Memorial Church with the Reverend Charles Kolb officiating. Music was by Mrs. Arthur Feldhauser and Mrs. Norval Stephan. Burial was to be in Elmwood Cemetery in the family plot. Serving as pallbearers were Alva Stephan, George Hilton, Lacey Stephan, Sr., Norval Stephan, Carl Hanson and George Skingsley. Honorary pallbearers were J. L. Martin, Shirley Arnold, Carl E. Johnson and Alex Bailey.

Will Christenson was born October 12, 1885 in Grayling, to Martin and Helene Stephan Christenson, in Cedar Street. His father, brother and sister all were victims of the diphtheria epidemic in 1889, when he was only three. Will's first 11 years were spent in Grayling. He then moved to Stephan's Bridge to make his home with his grandmother, Mrs. Peter Stephan. At the age of 14 he moved in quarters of his own near to his grandparents, staying and working in the family's business of catering to hunters and fishermen. He began employment with the Michigan Central Railroad in October of 1912. The following year he was married on February 11, 1913 to the former Rosa Schreiber of Sigbee. Will worked for the railroad both at Grayling and at Mackinaw City until he was laid off during the depression years. He kept busy doing carpenter work and working at the winter sports park, as well as returning to his earlier livelihood of guiding fishermen on the AuSable. In 1940 he returned to his employment with the railroad, staying with it until his retirement on October 26, 1952, 40 years to the day from when he first began railroad work. Will was then 67 years old. For the past 13 years he has been able to enjoy making trips with his wife, as well as to continue his lifetime of pleasure in fishing and hunting.

During his youth he was always in demand for playing his violin as well as to serve as "caller" at the down river neighborhood square dances, and he was a good one. Will was called upon again in his later years for the same role when square dancing was revived and became a popular community pastime once more.

He was given the nickname of "Vinegar Bill" by his railroad pals, because of his unflinching, never-failing and very contagious sense of humor and cheerful outlook on life. His nickname was mentioned by Dr. Hazen Miller in his book "The Old AuSable". Will was also mentioned in the G. E. Hendrickson book "Michigan's AuSable River-Today and Tomorrow".

He was the eldest of the blood relatives of the original Stephan brothers who settled in the down river area east of Grayling.

Surviving are his widow, Rosa, one daughter, Fay Bovee, and two granddaughters, Billie Fay and Dena Kay Bovee, all of Grayling.

His passing will be felt by all who knew him.

City Police Issue Three Traffic Tickets

On March 27, 1957, Neil Tinker, 20, of Grayling, appeared before Justice Olin Williamson on the charge of reckless driving and failing to stop and yield to a police vehicle, all of which took place March 17th. Mr. Tinker voluntarily turned himself in to authorities on March 25th, knowing there were two warrants issued for him. He pleaded guilty to both charges and received a total of $50 fine and costs or 60 days. To date fine and costs have not been paid.

David George Fiehl, 17, of Grayling was given a summons March 24 for speeding. Also on March 24 Kim L. Lovely, 17, of Grayling, was given a summons by City Police for excessive noise (loud exhaust system). Both have appeared or will appear in the near future before Justice Williamson.

City Election Next Monday

ROBERT GOLNICK

CLARENCE TONY GROSS

DEREK MCEVERS

PAUL J. THOMSON

Four Vie For Three Council Seats

The city wide election will be held in Grayling next Monday, April 3rd to elect three members to the Grayling City Council. Four men are in the race for the three seats.

All three incumbents have decided not to seek re-election. They are: Mayor J. F. Cook and Councilman James Duley and Howard D. "Whitey" Madsen. Both Madsen and Duley are finishing up terms to which they were elected four years ago. Both were appointed before that time to fill vacancies. Mayor Cook has served as Mayor of Grayling for the past several years and prior to that time as Councilman. He also has represented the City of Grayling on the Crawford County Board of Supervisors for several years.

Seeking election to the three seats are: Robert Golnick, food store clerk and member of the City of Grayling Fire Department; Clarence "Tony" Gross, Grayling barber; Derek McEvers, County Coroner and Paul Thomson, insurance agency representative.

Polls will be open on Monday, April 3rd at the Grayling City Hall from 7 a. m. until 8 p. m. Voting will be done on the city's voting machines. The four candidates for the three Council seats were asked by the Avalanche to state in a few words their reasons for running for the posts and what might be their goals. These statements follow:

Robert Golnick was born in Grayling and has spent his entire life as a resident of the city with the exception of 4 years spent in service in the United States Air Force.

He is married and the father of two children. He and his family make their home in the city at 605 Clyde street. "Bob" as he is better known has been employed at the A. & P. store for the past 10 1/2 years.

He is an active member of the Grayling Fire Department where he has served seven years. He has also spent four years working with the Grayling Little League. Golnick stated that his reason for running for the Council seat was to gain experience in municipal operations.

Clarence "Tony" Gross, a native of Grayling, operates an appointment barber shop at his home on Ogema street. Having spent his entire life in Grayling, Tony stated that he felt that everyone some time during his life should offer to give of their talents in the service of their country.

"This is the least that our country has a right to expect of us," Gross stated. "We can not hope to remain a free and solvent nation without this vital support from our citizens," he concluded.

Derek McEvers is a native of Grayling and graduated from Grayling High School. He attended both Northern and Central Michigan Universities and is a graduate of Wayne State University's Department of Mortuary Science.

Upon being asked about his running for a City Council Post, McEvers said, "If I am fortunate enough to be elected as a member of the City Council, I would like to see the city become a little more aggressive in the area of industrial development. Some great strides have been made in the past few years with our city's services to its people, however, I feel each tax dollar could be used a little more effectively. Better streets and sewers, of course, would have to come high on anyone's list of things they would like to see accomplished. Certainly something must be done to preserve our AuSable River and maintain it as one of our major tourist attractions," McEvers concluded.

Paul J. Thomson, 28, a resident of Grayling for the past 2 1/2 years makes his home with his wife Donna and four children at 300 Pontiac avenue. Paul is a native of Hancock where he graduated from Hancock Central High School and with a business major from Michigan Technological University.

He stated that he was a firm believer in the city manager form of government and that he would endeavor to see that the greatest amount of service would be obtained for each tax dollar.

"My pet projects for the City of Grayling would be sidewalks, curbs, gutters and street surfaces," Thomson concluded.

Let Them In!

Will the consumers of city water please cooperate by making it possible for the meter readers, Tom Dunham and Karl Isenhauer to get into their homes to read the meters. For the first two months of each quarter estimated bills for water consumption are sent. The third month the meters are read and the billing adjusted accordingly.

It's time again for the meters to be read. At the last reading there were 80 places where the readers could not gain access. Your help with the problem will be appreciated.

"An Evening Of Forensics" Program Scheduled At G. H. S. April 12th

By Carl Minor

Should the forensic program at Grayling High School be continued in the future? This is a question the people of the community will have an opportunity to answer on Wednesday, April 12, at 8:00 p. m. At that time a special program entitled "An Evening of Forensics" will be presented for the general public. Admission will be through the Fine Arts Festival ticket.

Forensic competition in the Michigan High School Forensic Association was instituted at Grayling High School three years ago. In these three years local students have won 12 individual district championships, three school district championships, and one regional championship. Last year Grayling was represented in the State Finals by three individual regional winners. This year local contestants are again in the Regionals at Petoskey on April 15, and they have a good chance of once more being in the State Finals. In the past three years more honors have been won by G.H.S. in forensics than in all other high school interscholastic activities combined.

Last year a second forensic program, the American Legion Oratory program, was instituted at Grayling High School. Success here has been equal to that in the Michigan High School Forensic Association. Grayling has won the District American Legion Oratory championship from Midland both years that G.H.S. students have competed. This year the local winner not only won the District, but also went on to win the Zone (or Regional) championship from Muskegon, and then continue on to the State Finals at Ann Arbor. The Director and coach of the American Legion Oratory contest conducts this program without remuneration.

Oeming, Commission executive secretary.

On Wednesday, March 29, the Commission will meet with governmental units located along the AuSable River and communities from the Saginaw River (Saginaw Bay City) area. AuSable River units involved in the conference on programs proposed for improved sewage and waste control are the City of Grayling (Crawford County), Village of Roscommon (Roscommon County) and several townships in Crawford County. ## Kirtland Starts Visiting Program

The Board of Trustees of Kirtland Community College has initiated a visiting program with other colleges throughout the State. It will become a program of orientation and study in management, operation, financing, and planning and construction of educational facilities of these kinds. All of the two-year colleges have much in common, and experience of older institutions can be of great benefit to younger ones or those now being formed. Kirtland Community College intends to utilize such assistance.

On Monday, March 20, the Board of Trustees accompanied by the COOR Intermediate School Superintendent, visited Delta College at Bay City. The afternoon was devoted to a tour of Delta College to inspect and study the College as an operating institution. Stress was placed on architectural planning as it relates to adequacy of facilities provided for a growing student body. The tour was conducted by college officials and details of financing, organization, staffing, operation, and curricula were reviewed. A troublesome problem which faces all two-year colleges, especially the smaller ones, concerns adequate provision of facilities to accommodate a growing body of students. Most institutions have had to face the situation conservatively because of financial limitations, and the increasing costs of construction. It is extremely important that the college program stays within the financial capabilities of the communities being served, because long periods of public bonding are required. Fortunately, extensive assistance can be obtained from State and Federal grants, most of them on a matching basis.

Future visits will include a number of community colleges in the State. Trustees of Kirtland Community College have already visited institutions in Florida where the two-year college program has demonstrated outstanding success.

Benefits to be derived from such contacts relate to basic understanding and familiarity on the part of the Board of Trustees, with architectural requirements of a college institution. It is their intention to become well informed on details of planned layout, elements of proper construction, construction costs, and adequacy of facilities to be provided for. In addition to these visits it is probable that architectural firms will wish to conduct the Board on trips to college complexes constructed by them. The program will be continued as long as it proves to be beneficial.

Handy Hints

from HEIDI MATTHIAS

PACKAGING COSTS BOOST FOOD BILL

The price of a package is part of the price you pay for food. Michigan State University marketing specialists estimate that one to two dollars of each twenty dollars spent on groceries goes for the package. This is five to ten per cent of the food bill.

Manufactures package foods to keep them as well and as long as possible. Some food products spoil when oxygen gets to them, and much of today's packaging is designed to keep the oxygen out and the flavor in.

Most homemakers consider packaging costs justifiable because they can rely on freshness and acceptable quality of food.

MEAT MAKES THE MEAL

As meat makes the meal, meat cases continue to display large amounts of beef. Beef holds the place of honor at the family food table.

In contrast, pork has declined in favor as incomes have allowed us to have more choice. Besides pork, we're using less lamb than in years ago.

Right now, in our meat cases, we see more pork and it's lower priced than last year. We also see more turkey than before. Turkey has changed from a seasonal food to a year round food. Today's turkey is meatier—it gives a higher proportion of meat to the bone—and requires only about half as much cooking time. Beef, the big seller, can pay high satisfaction dividends by following careful buying practices.

The price-per-pound of a meat cut does not necessarily indicate what it will cost you to serve that cut. Meat cuts vary in the amount of bone, fat, and trimmings. The amount of bone, fat and trimmings affect the number of servings you can expect for a pound. The cost-per-serving is a much more realistic guide to economy in your meat cut choice — than the price-per-pound or than the total price listed on the label. For economy choose a beef cut with a large amount of lean meat in proportion to bone, fat and trimmings.

"LETTERS TO THE EDITOR"

Editor's Note — The following letter which first appeared in the Jackson Citizen Patriot early this month, was brought into the Avalanche office late last week by a Crawford County citizen. She thought that the local folks might want to read it in that the City of Grayling has issued a warning on dogs running loose.

JACKSON, Mar. 6 — After reading the letter in your paper written by Mr. Paul Nelson, appealing to someone in the "opposing camp" to explain their attitudes regarding the restraint laws for pets in Jackson county, I feel that I may be qualified to speak out, as I am the mother of five children who have kept as pets various dogs (penned), cats (housebroken), birds (caged), and guppies (enclosed in tanks).

Upon moving into the county, we obtained a license for our dog and printed on the receipt was the law making it mandatory to keep our dog under restraint on our property. We invested about $30 in wire and lumber and penned our children's pet. We soon discovered that the law apparently applied only to some families. After our children had their socks and slacks torn, and I picked up chewed remains from my over-turned garbage can, and scraped droppings from my shrubbery and flower beds, my husband and I set out to discover why our dog had to be penned while the pets of others were apparently allowed the full freedom of the area. One owner said that the pet was small and a "house pet" so the offense was minor, another said their pet was getting old and had never been restrained so they felt it wasn't necessary. Still another said their pet had such a sad expression on her face when she was restrained that they could not bear to keep her home. So it seems, Mr. Nelson, that the law applies only to the OTHER fellow. Our faithful Lady has since gone to her reward, but as I continue to go about my daily task of removing droppings from my patio, and returning scattered garbage to its container, I am very, very grateful, indeed, that as of now none of my neighbors has purchased for a pet, a small, old, sad-eyed ELLEPHANT.

Some of the requirements set forth by statute concerning the Annual Township Meeting are:

Mass Medicine Creates Problems

"A crisis in medical care, long predicted, now appears at hand in many parts of the United States." This is the opening sentence of a lengthy report on medical problems that have arisen in over-burdened hospitals and medical facilities.

In 1958, American hospitals handled 15.4 million outpatient visits, including emergency-room cases. By 1965, the total was 125.8 million, and so it goes. As one Michigan hospital administrator puts it: "This is an awful combination of medicare, medicaid and basic economics."

It is becoming apparent that the introduction of medicare and medicaid — first steps toward socialized medicine in the United States — has already resulted in some of the dreary symptoms that afflict state-controlled medical systems abroad. There are shortages of supplies and equipment, and staffs have been expanded to handle increased paper work. As congestion grows, care, inevitably, becomes more impersonal.

The question now is how far are we going to go along the path toward state medicine. Of one thing we may be certain — the more government intervenes in the medical system, the more likely it is that standards will decline even as costs rise.

Out of Proportion?

An increase in the social security tax went into effect January 1, 1967. The maximum for an individual jumped to $290.40, more than double the $144 tax of 1960 which took 23 years to achieve. Social security began in 1937 with a maximum tax of $30 per year.

The impact of social security taxes will grow as time goes on. There are built-in increases which reach as far into the future as 1987, and President Johnson has asked for an increase in social security benefits, the cost of which will be assessed in still higher taxes.

The income tax is the primary source of funds to run the federal government. But, as the social security tax outstrips the income tax for more and more people, it might be appropriate to ask whether the federal tax picture has not grown a little out of proportion.

Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO

March 30, 1944

Somewhere in England—February 28—may mean a birthday to Sgt. Leon K. Johnston but in the E. T. O. it's just another work day. With two cousins in the Navy "somewhere on the water" this native of Grayling, Michigan U. S. A. during his 15 months of service has covered quite a bit of ground, winding up with an "I love you" interchange with Miss Donna Mae Millikin of Roscommon, Mich. His duties as Sergeant do not require all the skill acquired as a tool and die maker at Ford Motor Co. in Dearborn, but in this important supply depot accuracy and efficiency keep the wheels rolling smoothly. Sgt. Johnston is the son of Laura and Norman Johnston, the latter a guard at the Grayling Airport.

Perry Akers has four sons in the armed services; three are now overseas. They are Pfc. Esbern, in service for 3½ years, now with the Red Arrow Division in New Guinea; Staff Sgt. Leroy, who has also been in the service 3½ years and is now at Fort Jackson, S. C.; C. M. 3-c Donald enlisted in the Seabees a year ago and is now in Ireland; and C. M. 3-c George is also in the Seabees, enlisting last June, and is now somewhere overseas. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Gierke have three sons in the service. They are: Lloyd Gierke, Jr., Army Air Forces now in Italy; Pvt. Wilson Gierke in the Infantry and also in Italy; 3-c Albert Gierke in the Navy, and on his third trip overseas.

Motor Machinist's Mate First Class Jack D. Kaiser of the U. S. Navy, enlisted in peacetime, January 1941. At the time of the attack on Pearl Harbor he was Fireman 1st Class on the battleship Tennessee, which was damaged during the attack. Its sister ship, the California, was badly damaged. He was transferred to a minesweeper to work on Diesel motors. His parents operate the AuSable Hotel at Frederic.

A-S Edmund A. Rutkowski, 20, of Grayling, has arrived at Southwestern College, Memphis, Tenn., for a course of instruction lasting approximately five months prior to his appointment as an Aviation Cadet in the Army Air Forces Flying Training Command. He will take numerous academic courses as well as elementary flying training. Upon completion he will be classified as navigator, pilot, or bombardier and go on to schools of the Flying Training Command for training in these specialties.

The 1944 beaver season opened with an unexpected number of trappers, 23 for Crawford County as compared with 9 for 1943. To date about 35 beaver and one other have been caught. One trapper reports seeing a pair of pheasants in the vicinity of Deward. At least three deer have been reported in the last two weeks that are still carrying their antlers.

Bill Babbitt of the U. S. Navy was home over the weekend visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bunker.

Mrs. John Wakeley underwent an operation at Mercy Hospital Saturday and is reported as getting along nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Haines (Hazel Hunter) of Pontiac are the proud parents of a son born March 23.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Davis have moved into their new home, the former Pete Rasmussen property. They purchased this residence property last fall and during the winter have been repairing and remodeling the house.

Mrs. Carl Nielsen and Mrs. Harold Rasmussen entertained a number of ladies Monday afternoon in honor of their mother, Mrs. Henry Bousson, who was celebrating her birthday that day. The hostesses served a delicious lunch on small tables scattered throughout the living room.

The American Legion enjoyed a social evening at the Otto Failing home at Lake Margrethe Tuesday, with Mrs. Failing and daughter Betty Jean as hostesses. Three tables of pinocle were in play, with Mrs. A. J. Nelson holding high score, and Mrs. Charles Tinker low. Lunch was served later in the evening.

Mrs. Ada Knight was happy on her 71st birthday, Saturday, to have several friends drop in during the afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward Gierke, with whom she resides. Mrs. Knight was the recipient of a lovely birthday cake from Mrs. August Funck, and other gifts from friends in remembrance of the occasion. Mrs. Gierke served tea.

Mr. and Mrs. William Goinick gave a shower for Mr. and Mrs. Amory Craft Thursday to help them reestablish their home that was destroyed by fire recently. The party was held at the home of John Bogie and a large crowd attended. Mr. and Mrs. Craft have purchased the Sidney Robarge home on the South Side and hope to be settled there soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Randolph and daughters are visiting the former's mother Mrs. William Randolph while they are getting their home ready to move into. It is their mother's property on the South Side which they have purchased, and are returning here from Oxford, where Mrs. Randolph and daughters will reside, as Mr. Randolph will be leaving for the Navy soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Shaw and son of Pontiac spent the weekend in Grayling and visited Mr. Shaw's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Shaw. The We Girls club met at the home of Marie LaMotte Wednesday. Pinocle and bunco were the evening's main diversions, with Eva Madsen and Rose Akers holding high and low score respectively for pinocle. Ruth Kerposky held high score, and Margaret Flagg low score for bunco. Lunch was served by the hostess. At each place was a small nest, centered with a prettily decorated Easter egg, guarded by a little yellow chick.

March seems to be holding out on Gentle Spring; more snow and more cold this week to date, with winds today—such winds!

Dow Starts Tests at Grayling Plant

improve the condition of many lakes, rivers and streams.

Dow has reported the initial research results to pollution control officials at the state and federal level and to the City of Detroit where similar investigations are being conducted. State and Federal authorities have been instrumental in providing leadership in identifying the nature and scope of the phosphate problem, and in the encouragement of research to provide solutions.

Dow is continuing to work closely with the City of Detroit in advancing the experiments towards practical use. The City of Detroit has a continuing study designed to determine the best answers to their pollution control problems, and Dow has been cooperating in the phosphate segment of the Detroit work, as well as on other pollution research efforts.

The first step in the Dow process involves the addition of metal ions to the waste water (raw sewage) as the waste enters a treatment plant.

The metal ions can be in the form of ferric chloride or a number of other chemical materials. The metal ions perform the function of converting phosphates from the soluble (dissolved) state to the insoluble state. The fact that this conversion can be accomplished is common knowledge in the sanitary engineering field.

The Dow experiments, however, have ascertained that, from an economic standpoint, the efficiency of phosphate removal depends on introducing metal ions at a level below that which results in flocculation of the insoluble phosphates.

The second step in the method Dow is working on calls for the addition of polyelectrolytes (commonly referred to as polymers) in order to flocculate the insoluble phosphate particles and cause them to settle out of the waste water.

Dow has been engaged several years in research on polyelectrolytes for use in waste treatment operations, and currently markets a family of such products.

In a series of tests conducted at the Midland, Michigan municipal treatment plant, this technique achieved 70 to 90 per cent removal of the soluble phosphate entering the plant. This removal is accomplished in addition to the high percentage removal of suspended solids which normally occurs as a result of using polymers.

The Stan Flowers have had crocus up and in bloom since the first part of March.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Halstead left Friday for Kalamazoo to pick up their son Kenny from Great Lakes, Ill., and take him with the family to visit Mrs. Halstead's mother, Mrs. Esther Dilling at Brethren Saturday and Easter Sunday. Kenny returned to Great Lakes from Manistee. The Halsteads took their guests of the previous week, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Halstead Sr. of Midvale, Ohio, down to Scottville when making the trip to Kalamazoo. ## Forensic Program to be of service. On March 4, the Zone American Legion Oratory Contest was also held in Grayling. Here too, there were more people from outside the community than from Grayling. At the local American Legion Oratory Contest, no one, other than the contestants and officials, showed up.

Last spring, in order to attend the State Finals at Ann Arbor, the father of one of the contestants and the forensic coach paid the transportation expenses.

This year there are a total of 13 students enrolled in the speech class at Grayling High School. Enrollment for next year appears to be no better. With such interest and support on the part of the student body and community, it does not appear worthwhile to continue a forensic program at Grayling High School.

Those members of the community who are interested in promoting and continuing a forensic program at G.H.S. are invited to attend "An Evening of Forensics" on April 12. The following students will be participating in the program: Nancy Knibbs, Janice Beery, Mike Worden, John Hunter, Monica Stephan, Marilyn Joseph, Maureen Lietz, Gayle Feldhauser, Mary Gardiner, Gail Hunter, Dane Madsen, Vicki Wells, Steve DuBois, Doug Wilson, Barry Holmes, Tom Hatfield, Sandy Millikin, and Vicki Scheer.

Did You Know

That The Book of Mormon Is Christian

The purpose of the Book of Mormon is "to the convincing of the Jew and Gentile that Jesus is the Christ..." Some of its teachings about God are that we should believe in him and pray to him. That all which is good comes from Him. The Book of Mormon tells that as among the Hebrews in Palestine, so here among the ancient Americans the coming of Jesus was foretold in prophecy. Wondrous signs were given at the time of His birth and other phenomena took place at His death.

After His ascension from Palestine, Jesus appeared to the inhabitants of this hemisphere and ministered to these people with great power, healing their sick. He served the Lord's Supper. After His ministry among these people, the entire population was converted to His Church, obeyed His commandments and a great period of peace and prosperity followed.

Other religious teachings include that polygamy is an abomination to God; that everyone should strive to be righteous; Jesus sets the example for us to follow; that Christ is the only way of salvation; God through his Son Jesus Christ, atoned for the sins of the world, making him a God of justice and mercy; We must repent and become as a little child; We should believe and be baptized; Infants do not need to be baptized; The "first-fruits of repentance is baptism."

The Book of Mormon teaches that everyone can know of the truth of the Book if they follow the promise on page 775 in Moroni 10: 3-5. You can get a Book of Mormon from the library or any member of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. Do you dare to meet the challenge of the ages in this modern day? Worship God this week. Regards, members of the Reorg.

"With Scouting"

Members of the staff of the Michigan Department of Conservation have been assisting the Grayling Boy Scout Troop to better understand nature conservation. In recent weeks, Ralph Anderson has instructed the boys in wildlife conservation, Russ Lincoln of the Fish Division in aquatic wildlife conservation and this Wednesday evening the boys will meet with Bill Tarr of the Forestry Division. The study of nature conservation has been under the guidance of Harold Straus, reports Scoutmaster Ken Carlisle.

Den Mothers of the Grayling Cub Pack have been undergoing training for their work with the younger boys. Mr. Dan Miller, Scout Executive for the area has been spending much time in Grayling helping the community organize its scouting program.
